A robust, manly son and a cooing baby-girl nestling in her bosom—what more can any woman ask? It is a boon that should be granted to every woman. Thousands fall of this because they have neglected to look after their health in a womanly way. The health of a woman's babies is dependent upon her own health during the period of prospective maternity. The prospective mother cannot be too particular about her physical condition. If she suffers from local weakness, nervousness or loss of vigor and virility, her children will be weak, puny and sickly. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is the only unfailing cure for all weakness and disease of the delicate and important organs that bear the brunt of maternity. It makes these organs strong, healthy, vigorous, virile and elastic. It makes the prospective mother strong and cheerful. It robs maternity of its perils. It insures a baby constitutionally strong. It is the invention of an eminent and skilled specialist, who has had thirty years' training in this particular branch, during which time he and his staff of physicians have prescribed for many thousands of women. Medicine dealers sell it and an honest dealer will not urge upon you an inferior substitute merely for the little added profit he may make thereon. "I am the mother of a nice baby four and a half months old," writes Mrs. J. B. Clough, (Box 203) of Lisbon, Grafton Co., N. H. "I cannot give too much praise to Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription."

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. One "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, and two a mild cathartic. "Drugs," sell them, and nothing is just as good.

HAD A KICK TO MAKE.

AND HE MADE IT RIGHT TO THE HEAD OF THE FIRM.

The Kicker Went About Landing His Protest in a Rather Unconventional Manner, but the Chances Are He Got What He Was After.

"Yes," said the tall, loose jointed man at the telephone, "that's the number I want—229."

"Double two nine?" queried the voice at the central office.

"Well, I don't know that double two nine is any better than the plain, ordinary two, two, nine, but if you insist on that style suppose we say double two single nine and get it exactly right. Hello! Is that Spotcash & Co.?"

"Yes," responded the voice at the other end of the wire.

"Is Mr. Spotcash in?"

"Is it something important? He is much occupied."

"So am I. Yes; it's a matter of some importance, and I want to talk to Mr. Spotcash personally. Yes; I'll hold the wire—that is, I'll hold the phone."

"Hello!" snapped somebody at this juncture.

"Hello! Is that Mr. Spotcash?"

"Yes. Who is it?"

"You are the head of the firm of Spotcash & Co., are you not?"

"Yes," was the impatient answer.

"What do you want? Who are you?"

"Gwilliams, 1195 Pumpernickel street. I want to enter a complaint."

"What about?"

"I bought an icebox at your store a few days ago, and—"

"Call up the household goods department, confound you! I have no time to spare to look after such things."

"You've got as much time, perhaps, as I have. I haven't any complaint to make to the household goods department. The head of the firm is the man I want to talk to. I bought an icebox at your store a few days ago for $16.75. I might have got it cheaper somewhere else, but that isn't the point. Having bought it and paid for it, I had a right to expect it to be delivered within a reasonable time and in fair condition. It didn't come for four days, and when it did come—"

"Say, you, I employ men to hear complaints of this kind!"

"I have no use for them. You're the responsible man of the house. The system is yours. If it doesn't work smoothly, it is your fault. When that icebox came four days after purchase, one of the castors was missing, the varnish was scraped off the outside surface in more than a dozen places, and it looked as if it had gone through a hard season at a cheap boarding house."

"If there's anything wrong with it," roared Mr. Spotcash, "send it back! I can't take up my time!"

"Stand a little farther away from the phone, Mr. Spotcash. Your voice sounds as if you had your mouth full of mashed potatoes!"

"Who the devil are you?"

"I think I gave you my name and address—Gwilliams, 1195 Pumpernickel street, next door to Lazarus J. Spillhorn. You don't know me from a stuffed alligator, but you may have heard of Spillhorn. Don't you allow yourself to get hot, Mr. Spotcash, over an icebox. The incongruity of such a thing ought to be apparent even to the head of an overgrown junkshop!"

"If you were here, sir, I should kick you out of my office!"

"You would probably need some help. If that icebox had simply been defaced a little, I shouldn't have made any fuss about it, but the stupid ass you sent to deliver it!"

"Haven't you sense enough, you infernal idiot, to know that I don't look personally after the little details of a business amounting to millions of dollars a year?"

"If you don't grasp every detail of that business, you Cheap John notion peddler in a gilt binding, you are not fit to be the boss of it! Don't try to crawl out of the responsibility by throwing the blame on some boy. If that icebox had simply been defaced a little, I repeat, I shouldn't have made any fuss about it, but the fellow you sent to deliver it didn't have any more sense than to tumble it on the sidewalk."

"Bring it back, blank you!"

"Look here, Spotcash, that won't do, you know. You are not allowed to talk in that style over the telephone. Exercise a little common sense, Spotcash. You know it isn't my place to bring that icebox back. The proper thing to do, you thirty-third degree haberdasher and toy vendor, is to send me a new icebox and take the damaged one back."

"You blank fool, do you think you can tell me?"

"Again let me tell you, Spotcash, not to use such language over the telephone. Some remote ancestor of yours may possibly have been a gentleman. Try to emulate him, Spotcash. In the meantime please accept the assurances of my distinguished consideration, and the icebox will remain in my dwelling subject to your order. If it is replaced properly and within a reasonable time, you will not hear from me again. If it isn't, I shall call you up, Spotcash, personally a dozen times a day through all the public telephones in town. I have not the patience to call at your store to make the complaint. Your system of making exchanges is too complicated, and I believe in going to headquarters with all kicks anyhow. Never allow yourself to think, Spotcash, that you are too big a man to listen to a complaint from your meanest customer. I think that's all. Good morning, Spotcash!"—Chicago Tribune.

Also Anxious About It.

"I would like to know," said the gruff old father to the young man who had been calling with considerable frequency, "whether you are going to marry my daughter?"

"So would I," answered the diffident young man. "Would you mind asking her?"—Chicago Post.

The Office Boy's Revenge.

A young lady who is employed in one of the tall office buildings has a young man acquaintance whose name is Jones. A few days ago the office boy was saucy, and she scolded him. A day or two later he marched into the inner office where she was at work and handed her one of Mr. Jones' calling cards.

"Is he out there?" she whispered to the boy.

The latter nodded.

Her heart beat faster. She could not imagine what he had come to her office for. Perhaps he wanted her to go to the theater that night. She went softly to the washstand in the corner and rearranged her hair, tied the ribbon about her neck freshly and then, with her sweetest expression, went into the other office.

A burly man with a mustache stood near the door. It wasn't her friend at all.

"Are you Miss —?" he asked.

"Yes!"

"Well, I'm a constable, and I've got a judgment of $12.50 against this firm."

And now the young lady wonders if she carelessly left any calling cards on her desk or whether it was a curious coincidence and the constable had the same name and used calling cards in his business.—Chicago News.

In Cuba.
In Cuba the kitchens are always on the roof or in the courtyards back of the house. Only twice a day does the Cuban housewife or servant prepare meals—at 10 o'clock, when she enters the kitchen to make ready 11 o'clock breakfast, and at 6 o'clock to cook the dinner, which is served at 8.

His Smoke is the Best.
"I am convinced of the truth of the old theory that the pleasure of smoking resides more largely in the taste than it does in the sight," said a business man of this city who recently underwent a minor operation for granulated eyelids. "I had to sit for three days in total darkness, and, being a confirmed smoker, I longed for the solace of a cigar. The first difficulty I encountered was in getting a light, and I wouldn't confess my helplessness until I had burned off half my mustache. Then I let my wife hold the match, but I kept complaining that the tobacco wouldn't ignite. My wife would assure me that it was burning like a furnace, but I couldn't taste a thing."

"One of the main pleasures of the habit, although we don't realize it, is to exhale the smoke gently and watch it curl up into the air. I caught myself, straining after that sight a hundred times, and there was an overwhelming sense of something missing. Except when I inhaled the smoke it was absolutely impossible to tell whether the cigar was going, so I got some cigarettes and inhaled every one. But it was a poor substitute. I felt instinctively that I was getting only a morsel of the old delight."

"When they took off the bandage, I grabbed my pipe with an avidity that surprised the entire household. I have been trying to catch up ever since."—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Struck by the System.

A peddler the other day found himself in an office building occupied wholly by lawyers. He went up to the first flat looking for a customer, but he found all the doors locked. Then he went up to the second flat, and there he found everybody absent, and so at last he went to the top flat. Here he espied an open door, and, looking in, saw a man busy writing at his desk. The peddler began telling of his wares, but the lawyer interrupted with, "No, I don't want any." Still the peddler continued, and again the lawyer protested. "I tell you I don't want anything. Get out!" But the peddler persisted so that the lawyer, thoroughly angry, quickly arose and threw the intruder down the stairs.

Just as he landed the lawyer's partner appeared, and, taking it for granted that there was good reason for such action, he seized the poor man and threw him down the next flight. Strange enough, the janitor of the building saw the second landing of the peddler, and the fact that he was a peddler was enough to cause him to seize the victim and throw him down the final flight of stairs. Here the unfortunate man picked himself up, and, rubbing his bruises, observed, "Well, this is the first visit I have made to this building, and I must say they have got a perfect system."—Detroit Free Press.

An Unintentioned Gift.

A gift that was not included in the published list of wedding presents received by a newly married Missouri couple was a receipt for ten years' back subscription due from the groom to one of the neighboring county papers, the generous contribution of the big hearted publisher.—Kansas City Journal

A TALK TO OUR READERS.

We have been directing the attention of our readers to the sayings of the Duke of Manchester, a money power agent in the United States, who, intending to flatter our people, gave away a part of the inner work and intention of the money power. The JOURNAL was obliged by the Duke because of the disclosures made, as it has given to us an opportunity "we long have sought and mourned because we found it not," to declare the intention of the money power, supported by the language of one of its prominent agents.

We have often mentioned the money power as the moving cause for the revolutionary schemes that were being gradually developed at Washington, and our reason for so doing was, that we believed that we fully understood the underlying power, in all of its cunning, that was at work undermining the fabric of our government system.

The cunning work of the money power has had our best thought and observation for a quarter of a century, and we believe there is nothing that has escaped our attention that is material to a just conclusion upon its intention and work in our country. Its work is cruel and selfish, and of a character the most cold blooded that has been conceived by man, which is nothing more than an assertion by us, but we now undertake and say to the readers of the JOURNAL that we will show and prove all we now assert, and more than we have named, before the villainous power as directed, will pass from the dissecting knife of the JOURNAL.

The power to which we have directed the attention of our readers, called money power, is a nondescript not hitherto classified, and for that reason it became necessary to give the thing a name for the purpose of reference.

Should we have undertaken to describe it and its purpose as a power, the people would have rightfully received our description of the power as a conclusion we had made, and for that cause we refrained from giving any detailed description of the power and force included in the intended combine of the money force and power of the three great nations whose money and power will be represented in the combination.

We believe that we understand the intention and ultimate purpose of the power that the Duke of Manchester outlined in the article published to enlighten our people upon the great advantages that would be derived to the nations interested in the villainy.

The Duke in the future will have to be more careful and not become intoxicated with power to an extent that will cause him to give away the secrets, schemes and purposes of the money power that he so ably represents, or he will lose his job as reported to the Examiner-Journal.

We conclude that the Duke personally is a jolly good fellow, but we also conclude that his money power education has been easily neglected. The reason there is for the latter conclusion is that the Duke would not have made, when he was writing for the American people, the mistake he did by giving away the deep laid plans of the money power.

When discussing in the future the questions included in the work of the money power as it has been developed from the beginning, which beginning is marked, demoralization of silver, it will be our purpose to do so kindly and when it is necessary to make politics subservient to support a position respecting the work, it will be our care to avoid giving offense to those who are our opponents in politics.

A few weeks ago we said the gentlemen who had written upon and discussed the silver question had not discussed the real cause and fact as we understand the question, included in the demoralization of silver. While ability research and integrity of purpose is presented in the efforts made by those who discussed the question, the authors spend their force on the leaves of the upas when they should have attacked the trunk and roots to the poison producing and death dealing tree that was and is watered and nourished by the money power for the destruction of American institutions, which is and has been its purpose and work from the beginning. Its purpose is established by its frauds and its intention is clothed in secrecy. It is an assassin.

BOER WAR.

The Boer war becomes more interesting as the British forces are brought forward for action. The Boers seem to become better fighters as additional forces are opposed to their position in Natal. The Dutch stubbornness there is in them appears to be coming to the front as conditions are presented to bring it into action.

The British forces thirty-seven thousand strong are moving upon Ladysmith for its relief. The Boers are massing their forces at Coleenso to dispute the advance to the relief of General White who with his forces has been bottled up at Ladysmith.

General Mathuen and his army of eleven thousand men are at Modder River awaiting re-enforcements. Mathuen is twenty-five miles from Kimberley and there is not less than fifteen thousand Boers well entrenched and armed between his force and Kimberley. There is another Boer force that is threatening his rear and the people of England are fearful that Mathuen may be surrounded by the Boers but their fears are chiefly founded upon a cutting made of the telegraph wires that connects him with the world, which has been repaired and the excitement has subsided. There will be severe fighting in the near future as the movements made by both sides indicate.

THE KNOWLEDGE OF THE GAZETTE, FURNISHED BY MR. FULTON.

"We ascertained on yesterday," Gazette. Well, what of it? It is not possible that a treaty must be submitted to the Senate for its approval. We are informed that Mr. Fulton had mentioned in the Gazette some days ago that the Senate must approve a treaty before it would be clothed with authority and force.

We very much regret that the very important fact escaped our notice. Had we known that an admiring world had been furnished the information by the gentleman that a treaty must be submitted to the Senate for its approval, we would have said to the money power, take off your boots and wade in. The JOURNAL receives its information from reliable sources, and the conclusions made from its information we would like very much to have the gentleman tackle; but should the JOURNAL receive an unusual exhibition of learning about treaties and the requirement that they be submitted to the Senate, or overmuch learning upon the relations of McKinley with Great Britain, we may not be able to answer the argument.

It is proper to say now that any exhibition of egotism, or pert remarks that contain evidence of a small mind or low references to respectable journals, will not be received as arguments.

A Strong Card.

The theater-going public is much indebted for the amusement that has been offered them for the past 25 years by the management of the Rentz-Santley Novelty and Burlesque Company, for they were foremost in the production of burlesque and extravaganzas, and that their efforts have been appreciated has always been proven by the large audiences their productions have always attracted.

The Rentz-Santley company will be with us on Friday, December 15th, with the strongest card of their career, "The High Flyers' Club."

A Tuneful Trio.

The other day the pug dog belonging to a prominent saloon keeper died suddenly. It was proposed to bury her with all the honors belonging to her station in life. Among the ceremonies at the interment was a vocal trio, "Miserere," from Trovatore. A certain mise owner sang soprano, an electrician sang basso and a deputy assessor sang terribly.

While the vocalists were performing, some unprincipled rascal stole the corpse and left the ceremonies without a fitting finale.

Resident Gained and Lost.

W. K. Ball left last night for Paso Robles to effect an exchange of his Reno property for a residence in that town. The deal was brought about through Haeb & Hicks. Mr. Ball will probably remain in California and the man with whom he exchanges property will remove his family to Reno.

Officers of Royal Arch.

The Nevada Literary Society will meet Monday evening at the home of Mrs. Brookins. The subject for discussion will be, "The Condition of the Colored People in the South."

FIRE AT PARRY'S

The Wieland brewery had a narrow escape from destruction this morning a little after 2 o'clock.

Fire was discovered in the building by Martin Evans, who, aided by Jim McInney, fought the blaze until the night watchman and other help arrived.

It is not known how the fire originated.

AN EVENING WITH PERFECTED WOODCRAFT

Delightful Entertainment Given Last Evening in Investment Building.

Three hundred invitations were issued for the Woodmen entertainment, held in the lodge room of the Investment building last evening, and it seemed as if twice that number of people were in attendance. The room was comfortably filled with a highly appreciative audience.

The program consisted of stereopticon views of the different officers of the Woodmen of the World and various drill teams, together with a great many scenes of places of interest throughout the world; also a number of choice selections on the phonograph.

J. E. Campbell and wife have the work in charge and are making a tour of the Pacific jurisdiction, which will cover a period of over nine months. Mr. Campbell ably presented many strong arguments in behalf of the Woodmen, and was well received by his listeners. He will remain in Reno until Wednesday, when he will visit Carson and give an entertainment.

A Man of Nervous. The most curious feature in the case of a mine imprisoned for nearly 70 hours in the Gaylord coal mine at Plymouth, Pa., was his peacefully falling asleep in his tomb as soon as he realized that he was likely to be rescued. It would be difficult to imagine a more serene nervous system. There were plenty of chances, too, that the miners might not get the poor fellow out alive. When finally he did emerge, he behaved himself as a hero ought to behave—quietly, with less thought of himself than of his distracted mother, who at the moment was at home praying for him.—Collier's Weekly.

His Complaint. "There's only one thing that I object to," said the patient man with a last year's hat. "Pianos must be played on. That's what they were made for." "You disapprove of some of the selections?" "No, I don't. All I resent is having my daughter call that piece with which she wakens the house every night a 'slumber song'."—Washington Star.

Occasionally. "Ever have your hair sing?" asked the barber of the man who has a thin thatching upon the top of his head. "Occasionally. Once the furnace blew out on me, once I mistook gasoline for kerosene, and once the gas range exploded while I was investigating a leak."—Detroit Free Press.

War! War!!

There will be a very belligerent sermon preached in the Methodist church this evening, if the subject goes for anything. It reads: "War, War, War to the Death, Holy War."

CAPTAIN MILLS SUES
LESTER H. WILLIAMS

Wants Ten Thousand Dollars Damages for Defamation of Character.

Yesterday suit was begun in the district court by W. F. Mills against Lester H. Williams.

The complaint is an interesting document of eight typewritten pages. It alleges that the defendant procured the publication in the NEVADA STATE JOURNAL of articles which damaged him in the sum of $10,000.

The paper begins by reciting the business of the plaintiff, as being that of developing, working and selling mines. The plaintiff also states that he is interested in a company that was organized by himself, the defendant, George D. Burton, Henry Anderson, Henry Riter, Sardis Summerfield and W. G. Caffrey.

The corporation is known as the Nevada Power and Transportation Company.

It now reaches the pith of the charge by reciting that on the 7th day of November, 1899, a defamatory article was published in the NEVADA STATE JOURNAL, entitled: "Something Rotten in Denmark, Napoleons of power and finance will soon hunt tall timber."

The entire article is quoted with parenthetical interpolations, pointing out the defamatory sentences.

Then follows: "By reason of said defamatory and libelous article plaintiff was greatly injured in his good name and reputation as an honest man, to-wit: in the sum of ten thousand dollars."

For further cause of action plaintiff states that on the 8th day of November another libelous and defamatory article was published in the JOURNAL. This cause of action was entitled: "The bubble is busted; the projectors are—?" The Nevada Power and Transportation scheme has become somewhat disfigured. First chapter of a very interesting serial story."

The entire two column article is reproduced with one or two comments. At the conclusion of the quotation plaintiff says:

"Said article is false, defamatory and libelous and by its publication plaintiff was injured in his good name and reputation and humiliated and mortified. Its publication was malicious and by reason of its publication plaintiff was damaged in the sum of ten thousand dollars."

For a still further cause of action plaintiff shows that on the 21st day of November the following libelous and defamatory article was published in the NEVADA STATE JOURNAL: "Power plant projectors." This article is also given in full.

The complaint concludes: "Defendant, Lester H. Williams, plaintiff is informed and believes, conspiring with several other persons, instigated and procured the writing, printing and publication of said false, defamatory and libelous articles in said NEVADA STATE JOURNAL as aforesaid deliberately, and maliciously and with the intent to injure plaintiff in his good name and character and plaintiff was damaged in his good name and character by the publication of the said false, defamatory and libelous articles in the sum of ten thousand dollars."

"Wherefore plaintiff asks judgment against defendant in the sum of ten thousand dollars and for costs of suit."

Thomas Wren is attorney for plaintiff.

Glorious News.

Comes from Dr. D. B. Oargille of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters have cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent. This shows what thousands have proved—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by S. J. Hodgkinson's Druggist Guaranteed.

The Merry War Wages.

Yesterday we received another communication that was in the nature of a documentary 14-inch shell in the war that is waging among the University athletes.

Since we declined to publish the statement written and signed by the members of the football team, it would hardly have been fair play to have inserted Mr. McCarren's response.

Both or neither will be inserted. Let's pray over this till Monday.

The Appetite of a Goat.

All such should know that Dr. King's New Life Pills, the wonderful Stomach and Liver Remedy, gives a splendid appetite, sound digestion and a regular bodily habit that insures perfect health and great energy. Only 25 cents, at Hodgkinson's drug store.

BASEBALL THAT WILL BE THE REAL THING.

The Clerks and Typos Will Fight a Bitter Battle on the Diamond To-Day.

"Baseball—As she is and should be," will be the title of a realistic drama that will be enacted in the spacious lot, corner Second and Ralston, this afternoon at 2 o'clock sharp. A number of local fans among the printing fraternity witnessed the farce last Sunday and started among their clansmen to get up a baseball team that would put the drummers to shame and at the same time teach the local clerks the real game of baseball.

A challenge was sent to the clerks which was at once accepted and a nine selected. The printers were somewhat handicapped for want of suitable material, most of those at present in the town being nothing more than antiquated specimens of the "has was" fraternity. However, the few remaining prints are all stars—good players in every sense of the word, and have had much experience in tossing off "balls," both liquid and solid.

As for the clerks they are an "all star" aggregation, and the public can easily see what chance they have of winning when their brilliant (?) showing of last Sunday is taken into consideration. Both sides are out to win, and the public may be assured of a good exhibition if they attend the game today. No admission will be charged. It is not expected that the boys will put up a league game, but nothing of the farce order will be tolerated—every player will be forced to do his best.

Following are the names and position of the players:

CLERKS
1b Jesse Elder—Deacon
2b Morris Jacob—Collar Button
3b Jas Mayberry—Gentleman Jim

LF Bert Crawford—Creeping Bert
CF Wm. Webster—Skinny
RF Lee Malotte—Fatty

Extras—Clerks: Will Cox, Printers: Lord William Francis Graham-Tower-Talbot (something worth seeing), and Sam Mozingo.

Scorekeeper: Charles Richardson. After considerable "wrangling" between the captains of the respective teams it was decided to choose two umpires when the game commences; neither side deeming it advisable to allow a few designing sports any opportunity to fix matters before hostilities commence.

Active practice was entered into yesterday afternoon by the printers; their battery is nothing if not phenomenal, and for players who have been out of harness so long possess great speed. It would be useless to go into the merits of each individual player—they have all established records in Reno and are too well known to dwell on. The services of a real band will be secured to escort the players to the ground. Everyone is cordially invited to attend. The players are notified to meet at the grounds at one forty-five sharp.

The war is on! Hail, hail, what the— [Note.—Here the writer was shot by an irate compositor.]

IS IT RIGHT
For an Editor to Recommend Patent Medicines?

From Sylvan Valley News, Brevard, N. C.

It may be a question whether the editor of a newspaper has the right to publicly recommend any of the various proprietary medicines which flood the market, yet as a preventive of suffering we feel it a duty to say a good word for Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. We have known and used this medicine in our family for twenty years and have always found it reliable. In many cases a dose of this remedy would save hours of suffering while a physician is awaited. We do not believe in depending implicitly on any medicine for a cure, but we do believe that if a bottle of Chamberlain's Diarrhoea Remedy were kept on hand and administered at the inception of an attack much suffering might be avoided and in very many cases the presence of a physician would not be required. At least this has been our experience during the past twenty years. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

An Epidemic of Diarrhoea.

Mr. A. Sanders, writing from Coconut Grove, Fla., says there has been quite an epidemic of diarrhoea there. He had a severe attack and was cured by four doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He says he also recommended it to others and they say it is the best medicine they ever used. For sale by Wm. Pinniger.

Merry Christmas

Will soon be here, and the merrier you make it for others, the happier you'll be yourself.

WE don't like to rush around the day before Christmas trying to select suitable presents for our friends.

Do You?

Come now and see our stock of Christmas presents. It isn't very large, but it's awful good; not a cheaply made article in it. And we've marked them low—so low that every one will be gone before the 20th. Come and look at them; make your choice before they are picked over, and we'll wrap and keep them for you until you want them delivered. Come and look at them, anyway. We like to show them to you, even if you don't buy; and you may get some good ideas about giving.
